DEATH OF GEORGE E. MALTBY

Well Known and Prominent Business

for member of the firm of Benedict, Pardee & Co., the wholesale coal merchants of this city, died suddenly on Sunday night last at the Arlington hotel, Wash-Ington, D. C.

Mr. Maltby with his family had been spending a week or more at Annapolis, Md. His daughters, having friends at the naval academy there, had gone down to attend one of the academy balls. While at Annapolis Mr. Maltby contracted a cold, which kept him con fined to his room some days. Feeling better he started for home, but stopped over in Washington to spend Sunday, Not feeling well Sunday morning he called in a physician, but was so much better toward night that the whole family went out to spend the evening. They did not return to the Arlington until about 11 o'clock. Mr. Malthy was taken almost immediately with severe pain fir the region of the heart, and died before the physician could reach him. FAIR HAVEN NEWS.

Death of Mrs. John H. Rowe-The Funeral of Captain John Burton,

Mrs. John H. Rowe entered into res on her eighty-second birthday after ar illness of over three years, Mrs. Rowe was unusually lovely in character. Kind gentle and thoughtful, she was endeared to all who knew her. A devoted Christian from her earliest years, she reflected in her life her abiding faith in God. Deceased was a member of the Grand avenue Congregational church. The funeral will be held from her late residence Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

Many friends in Fair Haven and Eas Haven of John Burton, the well known farmer, who was drowned at Lake Saltonstall while attempting to save the lives of Killoy and Gates, attended the funeral of the deceased held from the Congregational chuch in Whitneyville on Sunday. The church was crowded with the friends of the departed, who was a prominent member of the church and superintendent of the Sunday Rev. Mr. Clark, the pastor school. spoke in high terms of the deceased and of the loss sustained by the church and community in his death. There was a profusion of floral offerings. The bearers were four sons of the deceased and two of his friends. H. W. Craw ford, the Fair Haven undertaker, had charge of the funeral arrangements. When the Quinniplac river oyster teamers started down the river early yesterday morning they were confronted by a field of ice that obstructed navgation both above and below the draw bridge, but by vigorous attacks they soon forced a channel through.
